

Etere Support Maintains Seamless Communication and Transitions to Telegram Amid Skype's Discontinuation

With Microsoft set to discontinue Skype in May 2025, Etere will transition its instant messaging support to the Telegram platform with a dedicated support account, @Eteresupport. The transition reflects Etere's proactive approach to staying ahead of industry changes while prioritizing its users' needs.

Etere has announced an important update regarding its support services. In response to the announcement by Microsoft that it will discontinue Skype by May 2025, Etere is moving its instant messaging account to the Telegram platform. Etere 24/7 Support is now active on Telegram with username @Eteresupport. Our Skype account will gradually be phased out before a complete discontinuation by Microsoft by May 2025.

This move reflects Etere's commitment to maintaining seamless and efficient communication with its users. Telegram, known for its speed, security, and user-friendly interface, will serve as the new instant messaging hub for Etere 24/7 Customer Support, ensuring uninterrupted assistance and engagement for its customers worldwide. On top of that, customers on a support contract will continue to have access to unlimited software updates and upgrades, VoIP, direct VPN connections and tracked incidents with history logs.
