Etere unveils its upcoming release of Etere Nunzio Newsroom, engineered to address the ever-evolving demands of the modern newsroom. The forward-looking release integrates OpenAI's ChatGPT technology into the news story creation, revolutionising how news is produced, edited and delivered.

With the new Etere Nunzio plug-in, users can use ChatGPT directly from the Nunzio story creator interface, eliminating the need for screen-switching or additional logins. This seamless integration streamlines the news creation process, significantly reducing the time required to transform a news story from concept to delivery. By strategically incorporating key points, journalists can effortlessly leverage ChatGPT technology to generate content for maximum monetisation potential.

Details about this new release will be announced soon; stay tuned! Embrace the future of newsroom technology today with Etere. Contact us for a personalised consultation with our product specialists.
