Etere Ecosystem

Etere Web Multiplatform

As a technology leader, Etere continues to invest in research and development to future-proof its systems. As part of a free software release, users on a support contract can access new features including:

64-Bit Data Mover Running as a Windows Service for an Improved Performance and Reliability

Etere has upgraded its data mover to a 64-bit system for a better performance and reliability. The 64-bit system can access up to 264 memory RAM, resulting in a faster performance. Additionally, with the new 64-bit system, users can better manage multi-taskings between applications. Etere's distributed architecture ensures a fault-resilient performance at every step of the workflow.

New Web GUI for Configuration and Monitoring

Etere releases a new web interface to configure and monitor the ecosystem. Etere Web has been designed to allow users to connect seamlessly across devices and locations. Accessible via a secured log in from any mobile devices including laptops, tablets and smartphones, users can collaborate and drive their workflows even while on the move. All you need is an internet connection. Stay digitally connected, wherever you are.

New Log System with a Centralized Repository for Enhanced Tracking

With a centralized logs repository, it is now easier to manage information exchanges across systems. Each time the data mover is launched, logs will be automatically created and saved in the database. The logs, which are updated in real-time, can be accessed by any of your team mates, paving the way for a more efficient and organized operations.

Store Longer Audit Logs

Etere 31.3 features an enhanced capacity to to store longer audit logs for the system. It allows you to save extended logs and all report files from any Etere module. Etere provides an easy and convenient tool to secure your audit logs, without capacity restraints.
